

What's ahead for business in the UK Manufacturing Industry?

An invitation to the 2012 South West Manufacturing Seminar

The Federation of Small Businesses and CBG Management Academy wish to extend a personal invitation to the inaugural South West Manufacturing seminar on the 15th February 2012 9.30am – 12 noon at Thornbury Golf Club, Bristol

At the seminar, we will be taking an in-depth view at future business performance and the key issues and opportunities facing UK Manufacturing.

We will be discussing the very latest market conditions and trends, which will impact on your future company performance:

- ✓ Mastering manufacturing growth
- ✓ Where to invest in new and emerging markets
- ✓ The value of outsourcing – time to rethink the process
- ✓ Future trends that will shape business technology
- ✓ Building a future supply chain
- ✓ The mobile revolution – 5 technology trends to watch in 2012
- ✓ A new era for sustainability and environment – the next issues for business
- ✓ Translating innovation into growth – getting the most from R&D
- ✓ Decisions in uncertain times and austerity
- ✓ Global development and best practice – opportunity in the BRIC region

Manufacturing delegates attending recent seminars described the business insights and discussions as:

“The seminar exceeded my expectations” – Environ Europe Ltd.

“Off-shoring and future markets were very relevant for business” – Graphic PLC

“The information was very helpful for future business planning” – Aldermans Ltd.

The principal speaker will be Paul Drabble; Paul has spent over 20 years creating new business growth strategies for companies worldwide. He has partnered and worked with many of today's most recognised and successful companies such as Shell, Tesco, British Airways, McDonald's, Exxon Mobil and Cadbury Schweppes.

There will be an opportunity to network with industry colleagues over complimentary drinks. Copies of the morning's insights and latest market data and trends will be available on CD. To register, please complete the enclosed registration and return to the enclosed address with your payment of £15 + vat. We hope you will be able to join us.
