

London Sustainability Exchange Toolkit

Information Briefing Paper

About the London Sustainability Exchange (LSx)

The London Sustainability Exchange (LSx) aims to help London move more quickly to be sustainable.

They are a charity who works in partnership with business, government and the voluntary sector to:

- Reduce London's environmental footprint
- Improve the lives of London's disadvantaged communities
- Improve the health of Londoners
- Improve the knowledge and skills of our communities to achieve these goals

To achieve these goals they run learning networks other schemes.

They also seek to influence policy and practice throughout London.

They were founded in 2001 by the City of London.

About the Toolkit

The toolkit is currently in production and should be live around mid April 2010. It will provide businesses with hints and tips on becoming more sustainable and help them generate ideas to 'go green.'

For further information, please contact:

Alasdair Tattam, Behaviour Change Programme Assistant
LSx, tatam@lsx.org.uk - 0207 234 9408

Information for Small Businesses on Environmental and Sustainability Issues

Campaign to cut carbon emissions by 10%

www.10:10uk.org

Improving your physical environment

www.environment-agency.gov.uk

Energy Management, National Energy Foundation

www.nef.org.uk

Energy schemes, including the boiler scrappage scheme, Energy Saving Trust

www.est.org.uk

Recycling

www.recycleforlondon.com

Energy Saving Business Loans

www.carbontrust.co.uk

Carbon Calculator, Act on Co2

actonco2.direct.gov.uk

For further information:

Hannah Holdroyd, London Policy Officer